CORN IS ONLY 56 PER CENT NORMAL

FARMERS IN COUNTY ESTIMATE 184,980 ACRES.

INCREASE IN THE STATE

Missouri Corn on July 1, at 62 Per Cent a Lower Condition Than Ever Before.

The farmers of Nodaway County estimate their 1924 corn acreage at 184,980 acres and the July condition as 56 per cent of normal. The condition of the more important crops in the county as they find them are wheat, 82 per cent; oats, 83 per cent; apples, 85 per cent; hay, 75 per cent; pastures, 90 per cent, and gardens, 78 per cent.

Missouri farmers planted 3 per cent more corn this year than last, or 6,759,000 acres, compared to 6,562,000 last year. The July condition of 62 per cent of normal indicates 142,480,000 bushels, compared to 196,860,000 bushels last year, according to the joint report of E. A. Logan of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics and Secretary Jewell Mayes of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, showing an unfavorable situation.

Missouri corn on July 1 at 62 per cent was a lower condition than ever shown by any previous records. The spring was late and cold, preventing early planting and the continuous rains of June required replanting of much of the crop. Overflows on small streams did much damage, and a portion of the intended corn acreage was not planted and which has or will be planted to other crops. The corn plant is generally small from lack of cultivation and sunshine, and is in many fields full of grass and weeds. Considerable of the crop on uplands was cultivated during the first days of July for the first time. No such conditions as prevail have been seen since 1915.

Wheat at harvest indicates 68 per cent of a crop or 23,214,000 bushels against 37,882,000 bushels last year. The improvement made in northwest was offset by the decline in prospect of eastern counties. Wheat harvest was nearing completion at the end of the first week in July.

The oat crop improved during June, and the present condition of 83 per cent forecasts 40,318,000 bushels, against 34,500,000 bushels last year. The crop gained in all sections and approximates a five-year average. Harvesting followed closely after wheat.

Meadows were all improved during the month, with the least in timothy hay. Unfavorable weather made haying difficult, and alfalfa and clover in many fields were considerably damaged. Soybeans made another 50 per cent increase in planted acreage. This crop increase is reflected in nearly all sections. Cowpeas were sown on a slightly less acreage than last year, following an increase of cotton. Kaffirs are planted on a larger acreage, due to the corn situation and the necessity for increased forage crops. Pastures are better than usual.

Gardens are fair, but need sunshine and less rain. Cherries and all small fruits were good crops. Apples are 58 per cent of normal, with Jonathans, Yorks and Ganos promising.

Most crop conditions are less favorable than for many years. June and July rains prevented cultivation of corn and cotton and the harvesting of grain and hay. Farm work has been crowded into July, raising the demand for labor, making the supply not sufficient, which tends to increase wages slightly above prices prevailing six months ago.

Many Improvements at Linville Hotel

Expansion Program Is Now Under Way—All Rooms Have Been Redecorated—New Furniture.

With a number of improvements already completed, the Linville Hotel is starting an expansion program which, when finished, will make it one of the best in this section of Missouri.

Every room in the building has been redecorated, Walter Nixson, manager of the Linville, said this morning. New carpet has been placed on all of the hall floors and a number of pieces of furniture added to the equipment.

The rear entrances and walks have all been repaired, Mr. Nixson said, and the roof of the building tarred.

The building will probably be painted in the near future and an addition to the dining room, extending back to the alley, is contemplated by the management.

All of the shower baths in the building have been overhauled and now are in first class condition, Mr. Nixson said.

BIRTHS EXCEEDED DEATH FORTY-ONE

DURING JUNE, ACCORDING TO HEALTH REPORT.

ALSO LARGE INCREASE

Of New Residents Over That Of Preceding Month—Sixty-One Births Noted During June.

There was an increase of twenty-one births in June over May this year and during the month of June births exceeded deaths by forty, according to the June health report of the County Health Department. In June this year, Dr. C. P. Fryer says, there were sixty-one births and twenty-one deaths reported to his office. In 1923 during the same month there were thirty births and twenty-four deaths. The report for May showed twenty-three deaths and forty births, while in April there were forty-two births and twenty-three deaths noted in the county.

Of the quarantinable cases during the preceding month there were two ceses of chickenpox and no deaths; two cases of diphtheria, no deaths, one case June 1923; one case of tuberculosis (pulmonary) from which death resulted; one case of mumps; and no cases of pneumonia. The corresponding month 1923, there was one case of pneumonia (lobar) and two cases of pneumonia (broncho).

Dr. C. P. Fryer in a summary of the report for the month of June says:

"The work of the Nodaway County Health Department during the month of June has been devoted principally to the conducting of Mother's Conferences, Home Hygiene and the Care of the Sick; Prenatal, Infant and preschool work; and the deliverance of lectures to various classes composed of teachers, all of whom are students of the State Teachers College.

"Owing to weather conditions, the personnel of the Health Department was unable to attend a portion of the Rural Meetings scheduled for the past month but we report eleven Mother's Conferences held with a total attendance of 187. We have received hearty co-operation in our work along this line in all the rural communities in which classes have been organized and we have received numerous requests for the organization of other classes in adjoining communities.

"During the past month the members of our Department were called upon to deliver a number of lectures upon subjects pertaining to various phases of school life considered from a standpoint of relationship between teacher and pupils. The attendance present at these meetings was approximately 600.

"Health pamphlets, public health bulletins, communicable disease charts, etc., have been distributed to all teachers present at these meetings and also to the mothers present at the Mother's Conferences.

"Attention has been accorded all contagious diseases reported to this office and the State Board of Health regulations in regard to epidemiological investigation of cases, contacts and suspects have been fulfilled.

"Dr. C. P. Fryer has been called upon to assist in choosing proper locations for the new modern school buildings in our county which are now under construction.

"Dr. C. P. Fryer and Miss Margaret Davison were present at a meeting composed of teachers and county officials held for the purpose of organizing a permanent Tubercular Association in our county. Officers were elected and arrangements will be made for the purpose of conducting this work and the proper disposal of funds received, throughout the ensuing year.

"Respectfully submitted,
"C. P. FRYER, M. D.
"County Health Officer."

BERT COOPER DOING EXCELLENT WORK

SAYS FORMER BUSINESS MAN IN LETTER

DONATES $100 AWARD

Hope Expressed that Additional Prizes Can be Offered for Second and Third Places

The former Northwest Missouri business man who contributed a prize of $100 for the best Vitalized Agriculture notebook made by students within the district has again offered the same prize for a contest to be conducted with the same rules and regulations.

The hope was expressed this morning that additional prizes can be offered for the second and third best notebooks made by the students in the district.

A portion of the letter written by the donor of the $100 award reads as follows:

"The question in history pertaining to the biography of some individual in the community serves to illustrate that history is in the making in every community, that the people we read about are perhaps doing the same thing in a larger scope. The lesson in geography enables the child to study not from textbooks but from materials at hand.

"The study of the country newspaper teaches the child to give value to news articles, and at the same time awakens an appreciation of the events in which the child is concerned.

"This short review could be greatly elaborated. But not least of the purpose which this prize was given is to encourage Bert Cooper in his splendid work in Vitalized Agriculture. The writer has known Bert Cooper since his boyhood days on the farm. He is doing a splendid work. He has persisted for many years, some times under most discouraging circumstances, but he has had an idea that is worth while and he has pluckily fought a good fight.

"In the course of my life, I have known many splendid men, governors members of Congress, eminent writers, men of high position in both the Army and Navy, many men of fame in professional and buisness life, but with kindly regards for all of them I know of no one man who has made a greater contribution to the welfare of mankind than Bert Cooper, the teacher of Vitalized Agriculture.

"My purpose in offering this prize is to arouse the interest of the country pupils in the life about them. I recall very distinctly in my own boyhood days that my school books directed my attention to the wonderful things of the cities and to distant lands. In fact, it seems to me that my country school days emphasized everything but rural life.

"I think the big purpose by this prize is to stimulate the child's observation and at the same time teach them an appreciation of rural life. I believe that the notebooks are in themselves a real testimony to rural life. I can imagine no more interesting book than the one selected for the prize. To my mind, it has an appeal to practically every person, whether interested in rural life or otherwise. Looking in the window of the average bookstore, you would discover no book of such great interest."

Miss Marjorie Stewart of Wichita, Kan., arrived in Burlington Junction Saturday to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wray for several days.

Ten thousand well-armed rebels are said to have succeeded in fighting their way past the federal lines into Sao Paulo and joined the main rebel force which is said to be well equipped with machine guns and artillery as well as airplanes.

Two 1924 number plates, one on the front and the other on the rear of each motor vehicle, should be on every car operated on the highways of the State. This is one of the provisions of the motor vehicle law and each autoist should give this matter immediate attention and save costs.

J. E. James, superintendent of maintenance of the state highways in Nodaway County, has received a number of tags notifying car owners about this section of the law. He has turned these tags over to Sheriff Roach.

Debs In Appeal For LaFollette's Party

Socialist Leader Formally Declares Himself for Wisconsin Senator's Candidacy

Chicago, July 15—Eugene V. Debs today formally declared himself for Robert M. LaFollette for the presidency and urged all members of the socialist party loyally to support the Wisconsin Senator's candidacy.

Making his pronouncement as titular head of the party, Debs declared the alliance thus made with the La Follette party for independent political action constitutes the "drafting of this golden opportunity in this supreme juncture with formation of an American labor party in sight."

The Debs' statement was variously interpreted by political leaders here today as being really a swan song of the old "inflexible school of no-compromise socialists."

Would Fine and Oust Atlas Cement Company

Attorney-General Barrett Today Files Suit Against Large Corporation—Alleges Anti-Trust Violation.

Jefferson City, July 15.—Jesse W. Barrett, Attorney-General, today filed suit against the Atlas Portland Cement Co., charging violation of the Missouri anti-trust laws and asked that the company be fined and ousted from the state.

The suit is based on the membership of the Atlas Cement Co., in what was known as the Midwest Credit and Statistical Bureau at Chicago, a combination of a number of cement companies which exchanged statistical information with each other as to prices.

This open price plane has been held by Mr. Barrett to be illegal and in violation of Missouri statutes.

The Atlas company is incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania but operates the largest cement factory in Missouri, the plant being located a few miles south of Hannibal, Mo.

G. O. P. CAMPAIGN PLANS ANNOUNCED

RADIO WILL PLAY IMPORTANT PART.

OPENS ON AUGUST 14

President To Be Formally Notified Of Nomination and Will Sound Keynote of Republican Attack.

Washington, July 15.—Plans for the active prosecution of President Coolidge's campaign to succeed himself will be mapped out in a series of conferences opening here tomorrow, it was announced today.

The opening gun will be fired on August 14, agreed upon as the date for Mr. Coolidge to be formally notified of his nomination. The President's speech of acceptance, which will be broadcast over the radio, will sound the keynote of the Republican attack on the opposing candidates.

Tentative plans for the campaign call for a few speeches in person by the President and a somewhat greater number over the radio.

The East will be Mr. Coolidge's principal battleground and he is not expected at any time to get farther West than the Mississippi. Beyond that line, General Charles G. Dawes, his running mate, will be left to carry the standard.

For the most part, a "back porch" campaign will be conducted from the south portico of the White House.

Washington, July 15—The much-vaunted "advisory committee" for conducting President Coolidge's campaign this fall will be composed of a shifting personnel, and subordinate to the Republican national committee, it was announced officially at the White House this afternoon.

The announcement represents a complete victory for William M. Butler, chairman, and sets at rest of rumors of friction with the President over his conduct of affairs at Cleveland.

The announcement today further states on behalf of the President the advisory committee will be called into use only when the Republican national committee desires a particular line of work to be performed, it was stated officially.

The personnel, in addition, will be changed from time to time.

The actual direction of the President's campaign, it was said, will be in the hands of the national committee and Chairman Butler.

Chicago, July 15—Republican headquarters here announced today that Charles G. Dawes will be formally notified of his nomination for the vice-presidency on the evening of August 19 at his Evanston home.

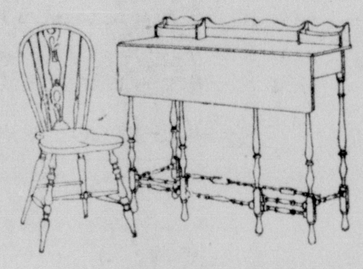
"Where Your Patronage Is Appreciated"



"When is the best time to buy home furnishings?

If you have asked yourself this question—consider this:

Your home environment—the things you see and the things that are about you in the home—have much to do with YOUR peace of mind and contentment. There is some furniture (so-called) that "fights" you all the time.

For this reason your furniture should be selected with the greatest care. You should take all the time you feel is necessary, and under no circumstances should you buy hurriedly. If you do buy hurriedly you may regret it for years to come.

Right about now, when nearly all retail business slows down, is therefore the best time to buy furniture, draperies, rugs. The salesmen have time to give you all the time you need to make correct selection. A certain amount of "visiting" is good when buying furniture—"talking over" things in the home—and during the warm summer months there is time to "visit."

Delivery can be made later—when you are ready for your things—but this is the best time to make selections. Don't forget that we make special appointments for evenings when outfits or suite purchases are considered, so "friend husband" can come along.

A FARMER FOR GOVERNOR

A. W. NELSON
of Cooper County, Candidate for the Democratic Nomination for Governor

Nelson's Platform in Brief:

Planks from the platform on which Dr. A. W. Nelson, farmer candidate, seeks the Democratic nomination for Governor:

Relief for the farmer from financial distress by effecting a fair ratio between the value of crops and the prices of the things he must buy.

Further development of Missouri manufacturing and industry so that industry and agriculture may go forward hand in hand.

The laborer, when employed at a fair wage, is the farmer's best customer, and he is entitled, always, to a fair return for his labor.

Economy in state government and reduction of the cost of the present government to the lowest possible point. The elimination of every useless board and commission and consolidation of others where efficiency can be maintained and expenses cut.

Reduction of taxes on farm lands by reducing valuation of farm lands for taxation purposes.

For good roads in Missouri and the expenditure of all road money in a manner which will effect the construction of the greatest number of miles of durable roads to serve the greatest number of people; and for "farm to market roads" to aid the farmer in marketing his crops.

Improvement of the educational system of the state, including public schools, teachers' colleges and the State University.

Economy in administration, Jeffersonian simplicity and strict enforcement of the law.

Why Nelson Should Be Nominated

Because he is qualified by education, training and experience.

Because he is a farmer and appreciates what the situation is in our most important industry.

Because he is no politician, but is a sound and successful business man.

Because he represents the common people, stands for needed reform and economy and will give the people a business administration.

Because he is progressive but safe. He is a farmer business men need not fear and a business man farmers can rely upon.

Because all friends and acquaintances endorse him as a man of strong character, a good citizen, a good neighbor, good business man and a gentleman.

Because he is the strongest possible candidate we can nominate for the November election.

Because farming is the biggest industry in the state and should be accorded this recognition at this time. Missouri has not had a farmer for Governor for over forty years.

Because he is making his campaign on his own merits and is making no effort to tear down or belittle his opponents.

New Buildings for University of Missouri

Columbia, Mo., July 15.—"Its high time that the state of Missouri and its institutions should become the receipiant of the benefactions and endowments of men and women of wealth in the state," Governor A. M. Hyde recently declared. "For many years wealthy Missourians inspired to make some gift of their wealth for the benefit of humanity have been sending money to eastern institutions endowing far off enterprizes while the institutions of the state might just as well—might better, in face—be the beneficiaries of these generous impulses."

It was for that reason that Governor Hyde last week announced the release of state funds appropriated by the last legislature to complete the Home Economics building and to build a much needed home for the School of Law at the University of Missouri. The State is simply matching dollars in the case of the Home Economics building with the late Joseph K. Gwynne of New York who willed $50,000 for a building at the University in memory of his wife, a former Missourian.

In the case of the Law Building the state is matching dollars with Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Tate of St. Louis, who have offered to donate $75,000 to combine with a like amount from the state for a new law building. Mr. and Mrs. Tate are inspired by the memory of their son Lee Tate, a graduate of the School of Law and who was killed in an automobile accident more than a year ago in St. Louis.

Many men of wealth—which often is acquired entirely within the state of Missouri, too often seek to perpetuate their names or memory by making big endowments to eastern schools and colleges. It has become a sort of habit. Hardly a week goes by that the newspapers do not announce generous donations and gifts for some far away enterprise when Missouri is just as much in need—often far more in need—of the same gift. The University of Missouri, the various State Teachers Colleges need many buildings, art treasures, endowments that will reflect far more blessing upon humanity and upon the doners than gifts to some already over-wealthy far away institutions.

Why should not the state of Missouri, through its institutions share in the generous impulses of her citizens?

Mrs. Nellie Airy of St. Louis is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. William Garrett, and with other relatives.

George Wray of Worth was a Maryville visitor yesterday.

Mrs. Charles Eaton, Mrs. Harold Eaton and Mrs. Fred Daniels of Barnard were Maryville visitors yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hill and daughter, Catherine, and Mrs. Charles Broyles motored to Burlington Junction yesterday.

Webb-Mapel Team Wins Tennis Match

Second Round of Doubles Tourney Ends With 8-6, 6-3 Victory at College Yesterday

In the final match of the second round of the mens doubles tennis tournament at the State Teachers College Webb and Mapel defeated Frank and Verne Gusewelle yesterday afternoon in straight sets, 8-6, 6-3. The first set was characterized by fast playing on both sides of the net and when it was completed both teams were tired out. Without stopping to rest the second set was attacked and it resulted in a speedy win for the Webb-Mapel combination.

Both teams played a good brand of tennis, but the victors were superior in the lobbing department and won the match by their high lazy shots, usually accurately placed.

The semi-final and final rounds will be played off before the end of the week.

Shane King On Cruise In Atlantic Waters

Writes To Parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. King of Maryville From Paris.

Shane King, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. King, who is a student at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., is taking a cruise this summer with his fellow midshipmen and has written to his parents from Paris.

The midshipmen are on the latest model battleship, the West Virginia, which is controlled by electricity. The last place the ship anchored was at Cherbourg, France. The letter received today from Shane follows in part: "When we got to Cherbourg we unexpectedly got three days' leave to Paris and it is there I am writing you. I have had a very good time and have seen most everything though not like I wanted to as the time was so short. Went through the Louvre, Napoleon's tomb, Notre Dame, the panorama of the war and then took several auto trips over the city. At night we went to several shows including the Folies Bergen, which were not so bad."

Clearmont Splits Bill With St. Joe

The St. Joseph baseball team nosed out the Clearmont nine in a hotly contested game at Clearmont yesterday, by a score of 10 to 9. Fred Newlon of Maryville was present at the game and so enthusiastically rooted for Clearmont that he unintentionally scored a knock-out near the close of the game. Newlon was swinging his arms and yelling for a win when another spectator got in the way of a stiff right hook and sank to the ground taking the count.

Clearmont won the game Sunday by a 7 to 3 score.

Mrs. John Banner of Burlington Junction returned home today after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Harve Miller.

The Daily Test

Suppose you tested everything before buying—held it under searching light, examined it, turned it critically over and over. Not then could you feel so sure of it as of advertised goods you have never seen.

Wares advertised have already been tested. They have proved their worth under publicity that would have illumined defects. Thousands of buyers have tried them before you—and been satisfied. Without this satisfaction, they couldn't continue to be advertised goods.

That thousand-fold testing goes on each day. Advertisers invite it. They believe in their wares, and prove their wares justify belief by advertising to you daily.

Read the advertisements to know of the best—to protect yourself against unwise buying.

Oil Wells Are Netting John Hood $300 a Day

Former Nodaway County Resident and Family are Now Visiting Here

A former Nodaway County resident, John M. Hood, who with his family is now visiting in this county, has two oil wells on his farm near Stroud, Okla., which are producing about 2,200 barrels apiece and are netting Mr. Hood about $300 a day. Eight more wells on the Hood farm are now being drilled. The first well was brought in on June 3 and the other well on June 15.

Mr. Hood says these wells went to a depth of about 4,100 feet and the expenses of drilling them were from $60,000 to $90,000 for each one. He had disposed of about three-fourths of his royalties before the well was drilled.

Mr. Hood has given up farming and he and his family expect to visit two or three weeks here and then will go to Illinois for a visit.

The Hoods left Nodaway County about twenty-two years ago. They resided near Orrsburg. After residing in Kansas, they moved to Oklahoma, near Stroud.

The trip from Stroud to Nodaway County was made by the Hood family in two cars. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Hood and three sons and three daughters, Forrest, Noble and Wayne, and Audrey, Eva and Ada. They will visit at the home of Mr. Hood's mother, Mrs. Lucinda Hood, near Parnell; his brothers, P. E. Hood of Parnell; Lester Hood of Pickering; and Charles Hood of near Parnell. Other relatives they will visit are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alexander of Orrsburg; and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Florea of near Hopkins.

The games will take place at Hopkins Wednesday and Thursday of this week, starting at 3 o'clock each afternoon. The battery for the Hopkins nine will be Fuller, Lamar and Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Anderson spent Sunday with the latter's parents at Conway, Ia.

New Store For Arthur Nusbaum At Parsons

Formerly Maryville Resident Is Having Building Built For His Department Store.

Arthur Nusbaum, formerly of Maryville, now owner of a department store in Parsons, Kan., is having a new building erected at Parsons for his store. The new building will be ready about March 1, and will be one of the most beautifully designed business blocks in Parsons and Mr. Nusbaum plans to make his store the most modern and attractive department store in Southeastern Kansas, with several new departments added, and modern conveniences, such as ladies' rest room, balcony apartments and other innovations. The new store also plans to provide for 130 feet of window display space.

Aside from giving that corner the dressing up which it has needed since the disastrous Strasburger fire of 1918, the people of Parsons will welcome the improvement as a great step forward in the history of one of the city's most progressive and growing stores and will congratulate Mr. Nusbaum upon this achievement of a long cherished dream.

Starting a few years ago in an humble way, the store of Nusbaum has gradually but surely progressed and established a trade that is far reaching. Its well known cash policy has won it lasting friends, because it has made possible good merchandise at the lowest possible prices.

Long ago the Nusbaum store outgrew its present quarters near the subway on Main. No store in Parsons is more handicapped for space, and none will grow faster when the handicap is lifted.

Mr. Nusbaum said last night that the store in its new location would continue the same cash policy and the same fair treatment. His venture is an evidence of undying faith in the future of Parsons, just as it is for Strasburger's faith. As the new huge Nusbaum sign says,

"Building for a Greater and a Better Parsons."

Surveys Ag. School at University of Missouri

Agriculture Will Always Remain Most Important Industry of China, Visitor to School Says.

Columbia, Mo., July 15.—"Although the other industries are being developed to a great extent, agriculture will always remain the most important industry of China," said Dr. S. T. Tung, who is here making a survey of the methods used in the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri. He is making a survey of all the agricultural colleges in the Middle West, preparatory to a research trip in Europe.

According to Dr. Tung, there are very few colleges in China which offer courses in agriculture.

"The people from the farms in China who attend educational institutions do not go back to the farms when they are graduated, but invariably go into some other industry. The reason for this is that the courses offered there in agriculture are highly impracticable and of little use to the average farmer of China."

Doctor Tung is investigating the methods used here in the College of Agriculture. He spoke highly of the facilities for teaching. "In particular, I wish to speak of the faculty here," he said. "They are very efficient, and nearly every one has a reputation of being an excellent teacher."

Doctor Tung intends to write a book containing the results of his extended survey. This book will be used as a text book in the College of Agriculture of the University of Peking, where he intends to teach upon his return to China.

New Dean of Men at University of Missouri

Albert Kerr Heckel of Lafayette College To Assume Duties in Columbia On August 1.

Columbia, Mo., July 15.—Prof. Albert Kerr Heckel, dean of Lafayette College at Easton, Pa., was appointed to the office of dean of University men by the Board of Curators, according to a statement by Leslie Cowan, secretary of the University. The appointment will go into effect August 1.

Professor Heckel is an educator of wide experience, having taught history in various schools for many years. He received both the degree of Bachelor of Arts and of Master of Arts from Roanoke College at Salem, Va.; the former in 1903 and the latter in 1906. In 1913 he received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Pennsylvania. From 1907-1911 he was head of the department of history at the Pennsylvania State Normal School, Indiana, Pa. He is also a member of the American Historical Association, the American Association of University Professors, Phi Eta, and Tau Kappa Alpha. He is the author of "A Handbook for the Study of Ancient History."

Crow, teacher in arithmetic; Ruth Fletcher Stevens, teacher in commercial subjects; F. C. Wilkins, teacher of vocational agriculture; Nadine M. Sease, assistant in the director's office; Helen B. Underwood, assistant in the library.

THIS BRIGHT BABY GIRL

Brought Joy to Home. Mrs. Price's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scootac, Pa.—"I never felt like working, and when I would try to do any work standingon my feet, I would just drag around all day long. At times I would have terrible pains and would be in bed three or four days. I was in this condition about a year when I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers. I had heard different women say it was good for women's troubles, and my aunt thought it would help me as it had helped her. So I took the Vegetable Compound and it brought things right, and I was in good shape before I became a mother again. I believe it helps at birth, too, as with both my other babies I suffered a great deal more than with this one. I thank you a thousand times for the good your medicine has done me. It has surely made our home a happy one."—Mrs. Robert Price, Scootac, via Lockhaven, Pa.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use.

GEOLOGICAL REPORT ON OIL CONDITIONS

SUMMARY IS PREPARED BY HOWARD MANNING.

POSSIBILITIES ARE HERE

Worthy of Investigation — Small Amount of Money Required, Geologist Says In His Survey.

The following report on the geological conditions in Nodaway County relative to the possibility of oil and coal resources in the county, has been submitted by Howard Manning, geologist, who has been in the county for several months in an effort to determine the possibilities here:

The structural conditions of the rocks of the earth's crust control the accumulation of oil and gas. Oil is found in anticlines, monoclines, domes, and terraces. Where the sandstone ledges are saturated with water, oil being lighter than water, uses to the highest point in the sand in such quantities as to replace the water in large volume and form a commercial pool. The greatest commercial oil pools are found either in anticlines, monoclines, or domes. The up lift of the Ozark Mountains caused a series of broad low folds roughly paralleling one another from Vernon County north to the Iowa line. One of these great Geanticlines crosses Nodaway County from east to west. Super imposed upon this broad flat fold are smaller anticlines and domes, the most likely containers of important oil and gas deposits. One of these has been designated the Florida Creek-Quitman anticline and the following geological report reveals the existing conditions with regard to its potentialities.

Geological Report on the Florida Creek-Quitman Structure.

A thorough examination of the area above referred to, reveals the presence of an anticlinal structure, tending northwest to southeast. The surface rocks of the Florida Creek-Quitman area belong to the Shawnee division of the Pennsylvania formation, covered in places with a Glacial Drift ranging from nothing to 50 feet in thickness.

The Nodaway River, Sand River, and Florida Creek cross this fold from north to south. The erosion due to the flood waters of these streams, have left numerous exposures of the Howard and Topeka limestones. Aneroid barometer readings on these solid rock exposures prove the existence of folding in this area, which will be known as the "Florida Creek-Quitman" Anticline.

Location and Accessibility.

The Florida Creek-Quitman area is situated in Townships 63 and 64 north, Ranges 36 and 37 west in Nodaway County. The Villisca branch of the Burlington Railroad crosses the area. Machinery and materials for drilling can be freighted from Maryville, Quitman or Skidmore—as good roads lead from these towns to any part of the structure.

Fuel and Water Supplies.

Fuel for drilling, either coal or wood, is available from local markets. Water is present the year around in the Nodaway River and surface wells of slight depth that would furnish sufficient water for drilling, can be drilled in most localities.

Stratography.

As stated above, the surface rocks in the area under consideration are of the Pennsylvania age, lower formations, briefly described as the Mississippian and the Devonian. These are described in the reverse of the order named.

Devonian—No oil or gas have been found in the Devonian beds in Missouri. The nature of occurrence and restricted distribution would certainly eliminate them as possible oil and gas producers in this state.

Mississippian —The Mississippian rocks produce some oil and gas in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Illinois. In Missouri small quantities of gas and showings of oil have been found in the Noel shale. No doubt this gas and showing of oil have their origin in the shale itself. The Mississipian formations, as proved by the drilling of many wells, is practically all limestone with only a few shale partings. The lack of porous reservoirs and the small amount of petroliferous matter in the shales make prospecting useless, or at best very uncertain.

Pennsylvanian — The Pennsylvania rocks of Missouri are the most likely containers of important oil and gas reservations in the state; this conclusion is readily drawn from the analogy of the Kansas and Oklahoma fields, and from evidence of oil and gas occurrence in the state, and from the general lithological composition of these rocks. The Pennsylvanian formations are composed dominately of shale, with important amounts of sandstone, and a few lime stones occurring in relatively tin beds. The basal member, known as the Cherokee division of the Pennsylvanian formation is 500 to 700 feet thick. It is made up of Black Fissle Shales with five important sandstone horizons—any one of which is a possible oil or gas reservoir. These sandstones should be reached at or near the following depths: 1125 ft., 1350 ft., 1400 ft., 1450 ft., and 1500 ft. respectively. Overlying the Cherokee division are the Henrietta, Pleasanton, Kansas City Douglas and Shawnee divisions of the Pennsylvanian formations. The total thickness of the Pennsylvanian formations should not exceed 1600 feet.

Structure.

The general trend of the Florida Creek-Quitman structure is northwest to southeast. It is a broad flat fold, similar to the structures in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. The known occurrences of salt water in the sineline basins would lead one to believe that oil and gas, if present, would migrate to the upper portion of the folds. It is recommended that when wells are drilled, they be drilled on the line marked "approximate axis" on the accompanying map.

Favorable Features.

1. Presence of the same formations with the same characteristics which are producing practically all the oil and gas in Kansas, Oklahoma, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

2. Presence of folding which seems to be sufficient magnitude to cause oil and gas to accumulate.

3. Presence of five porous presistant reservoirs sands within easy drilling depths.

4. Presence of oil seeps, gas seeps, oil wells, gas wells, and sandstones saturated with bitumen.

5. Presence of salt water in wells that have been drilled in syncline basins on either side of this structure. In fact, every indication that the structure will be productive, is prominent.

Conclusions.

Taking into consideration the knowledge gained by an extensive study of all available literature published by the United States Geological Survey and the State Geological Department, and a most extensive study of the existing conditions in the Florida Creek-Quitman structure, I have arrived at the conclusion that the oil and gas possibilities of the Florida Creek-Quitman structure are worthy of the expenditure of the small amount of money it will take to prove them; and I hereby recommend the drilling of the Florida Creek-Quitman structure to the base of the Pennsylvanian formations.

Cash Prizes for Best Exhibit Legume Plants

The Entire Plant Should Be Brought to Meetings at Conception, Maryville and Elmo.

Cash prizes will be paid for the best exhibit of legume plants at each of the Clover and Prosperity meetings to be held in seventeen northwest Missouri counties between July 8 and September 10.

The prizes are offered by local organizations in each instance and the purpose is to assemble the best legume products of each locality as a means of information and encouragement for all persons attending the meetings and desiring to grow legumes under similar conditions.

For the purpose of the exhibit and to be eligible to compete for the prizes the entire plant should be brought to the meetings—root, stalk and leaves. As much of the root as possible should be freed from the soil and washed carefully so that the nodules produced by the nitrogen-fixing bacteria can be seen.

Outstanding specimens labeled with the locality and the name of the grower will become a part of the exhibit carried in the demonstration truck around the circuit of seventeen counties. Bring red clover, soybeans, cowpeas, sweet clover and alfalfa to the meetings at Conception, August 5, Maryville, August 5, and Elmo, August 6.

Mrs. J. F. Colby left this morning for Pueblo, Colo., to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Miles G. Saunders, and family, and later will visit her aunt, Mrs. T. D. Hosmer, in Colorado Springs. Mrs. Colby expects to be gone about three weeks. She was accompanied by her niece, Mary Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jackson.
